

Video Production Club at Saint Joseph High School

The Administration and Faculty of Saint Joseph High School are pleased to announce the formation of a Video Production Club. The Video Production Club is designed to provide an introduction to the necessary procedures in producing videos, as well as, to assist the local Main Street Program with easily obtainable productions that promote and inform those who live in the community.

Saint Joseph High School Tech Club students, along with teacher advisor Michael Falciani, will meet after school once a week for 8 weeks with Zane Sebasovich of Blue Ice Productions, to put together a video for Main Street Hammonton which will be used on their website. The theme of the video is "Think Hammonton".

"Students will have the opportunity to work with a marketing group which will take the students from pre-production to finalization of the project. Every week a new assignment will expand the horizons of the students and ensure the development of a creative and well-planned final product", explains Mr. Falciani.
